About Bert Weedon

Bert Weedon was born in London in 1920. He began playing guitar at the age of 14 and quickly became proficient in a variety of styles. In the 1950s, he became a regular on British television and radio, and he released a number of popular albums. Weedon's signature style was a blend of jazz, folk, and classical music, and he was known for his innovative use of the guitar.

Weedon died in 2012 at the age of 91. He is considered one of the most influential guitarists of all time, and his music continues to inspire guitarists around the world.

Bert Weedon Play In Day

Bert Weedon Play In Day was first held in 2013, one year after Weedon's death. The event was founded by a group of Weedon's friends and fans, and it has quickly become a popular event for guitarists of all levels.

The event is held every year in September at the Royal Albert Hall in London. It features performances by a variety of guitarists, including some of the biggest names in the music industry. There are also workshops and exhibitions, where attendees can learn more about Weedon's music and playing style.
