Some of the most popular modern monster movies include "Alien" (1979), "The Thing" (1982), and "The Babadook" (2014). These movies have all been praised for their originality and their ability to scare audiences.

They have also helped to prove that the monster movie genre is still alive and well.

As technology continues to evolve, filmmakers will be able to create even more realistic and terrifying monsters. This will likely lead to a new wave of horror movies that will push the boundaries of the genre.
